

General explanations and information for the public

Guidelines for self defense during a funeral march

1. During a funeral march and during eulogies - when you hear a siren or the sound of an explosion, find cover or a fold in the ground, lie down on the floor and protect your head with your hands
2. If you are travelling in a vehicle - If you hear a siren or the sound of an explosion, the vehicle should be stopped at the side of the road as far as possible so as not to block the route, get out of the vehicle, lie on the ground and protect your head with your hands.
3. Obey the instructions of police officers, inspectors and the Home Front Command.
4. Pay attention, when a siren is sounded, the time available to reach shelter is 45 seconds.

In view of the security situation and the desire to allow the close circle of friends and family to attend the funeral, and in light of the defense guidelines that reduce the number of participants, the public is asked to show responsibility and to obey the Home Front Command's instructions.

“Watch yourselves very carefully”

In the comfort of Zion we will be comforted
